Chamber Commerce Plans For Annual Meeting Jan. 15th

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce marks the close of its year's work with a banquet-program to be held at the College Cafeteria and auditorium on Tuesday, January 15th.

In the past the annual banquet has been held before the end of the year, with a program consisting principally of speeches and the inauguration of the new officers for the ensuing year. The officers of the Chamber of Commerce are establishing a new procedure in the preparation of a real program of an entertainment nature for the coming banquet.

"First of all," states J. H. Cox, Jr., president of the Chamber, "patrons who attend the banquet will be agreeably surprised at the brevity of the speech part of the program. A short speech of welcome by Dr. J. A. Hill, and a response by John L. McCarty, editor of the Dalhart Texan, will complete the speech part of the program."

The banquet will be arranged by Al Baggett, director of athletics of W. T. and will be served by the basketball squad, which is an innovation of interest.

At the conclusion of the banquet, the guests will adjourn to the auditorium of the Education building where a two-act play will be presented by the Panhandle Players of the Speech Department of the College, according to C. W. Batchelder, director. The play is a tragedy, and features the strongest talent of the dramatic group. Mr. Batchelder plays the part of the "villain" in the drama.

"If you put the program over as you have planned, it will be a splendid departure from the ordinary Chamber of Commerce banquets," stated Carl Hinton, secretary of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

Tickets for the banquet-program are being sold for 50 cents each, and can be secured from the officers of the Chamber, or at the Jarrett Drug Store. Reservations should be made early as the seating facilities of the cafeteria are limited.

Dormitory Work to Start About First February Is Plan

It is now expected that work on the boys' dormitory which is to be erected on the college campus will begin by February 1st.

This is a PWA project which is expected to furnish employment for 30 men for from three to four months time. The building will be erected at a cost of $47,000.

Cattle Buying Is Completed in Randall Says Upchurch

The cattle buying campaign has closed in Randall county unless there is a demand to re-open the buying. The government has extended the time until January 15th in those counties where the campaign was not complete.

So far as Randall county is concerned, the campaign is over, states County Agent W. H. Upchurch, since all cattle offered have been bought. It would not be possible to have the buying crew return unless there is a considerable number more offered for sale.

During the campaign the government has bought 11,229 head in the county, paying the farmers a total of $139,681 in cash. Of the number bought, 36.7% were condemned. This is due to the large number of dairy stock calves which were offered for sale.

There remains in the county 19,365 head in the herds from which the surplus cattle have been bought. It is believed that practically every herd of any size has offered cattle for sale, so this makes a very accurate count of the total number of cattle which remain in the county today.

Mr. Upchurch believes that not more than 20,000 head could possibly be accounted for in the county, after the cattle now away on pasture are returned in the spring. This is believed to be the smallest number of cattle that has been in Randall county since 1926.

No Approvals Are Received on Relief Work Program Here

No approval has been received at the local relief office for either the highway project or for the work at W. T. Both of these projects were submitted two weeks ago, and it was promised that both would be immediately approved by the Austin office.

The men on the relief rolls are being kept on the Goodnight Trail, working at places along the trail to make improvements before the contract is let for the topping.

County Administrator H. S. Strain is at a loss to understand why the new projects have not been approved, after having been promised immediate action in Austin.

Mr. Strain has been informed to report all families which are on direct relief must be removed from FERA rolls by the first of February. This will necessitate the support of these families by the county unless the coming session of the legislature makes provision to care for them. Mr. Strain estimates that there will be about 25 families who must come off the federal government rolls at that time. Only those who are able to work will be given relief by the federal government in the work program which will be carried on after the first of February.

Farm Census Under Way as Enumerators Given Instruction

The sixty-three enumerators who have been appointed to take the Census of Agriculture in this district, for the calendar year 1934, assembled at Amarillo Monday for a course of instruction as to their duties, according to an announcement today by District Supervisor, C. C. Gibson. Leigh D. Bull and John E. Hunter attended from Randall county.

Every effort is being made to comply with the request of William L. Austin, Director, Bureau of the Census, to place a sample copy of the 1935 schedule in the hands of every farmer so that he will be able to give study to the questions he will be called upon to answer. Sample schedules can be procured by writing to your district supervisor.

Sometime during January an enumerator will call at every farm for a report.

TREES WILL BE PLANTED HERE IN CAMPAIGN

Belt Will Extend From Canada South to Texas

DROUTH PROGRAM

Government Man Is Now Here Making Survey of Work

Randall county has been included in the Plains Shelterbelt Project of the United States government, which is being investigated at the present time by S. W. Dillingham of Lincoln, Neb. The project calls for the planting of a tree belt from Canada down thru the section of the United States which has been suffering from drouths. The original set up calls for tree planting on the eastern Panhandle boundary.

The western border line of the new set up slashes down through the Panhandle, taking in Sherman, Moore, Potter, Randall, the eastern edge of Deaf Smith, Castro and Lamb counties, with Levelland as the southern edge. From there it extends east through Lubbock into Crosby county, north to the south edge of Briscoe county, then east through Hall county, taking in most of Childress, and then northeast through Oklahoma. All land within these boundaries in the Panhandle is in the shelterbelts.

Mr. Dillingham is here, getting valuations of lands.

Buy or Lease Land

"The government plans to either buy the land outright or take a lease on it," Mr. Dillingham said.

"It is a project the government is going to put over," he continued. "In fact, it has already been started, for several spots in Ne-

Will Irwin Will Present Lecture Next Wednesday

Will Irwin, popularly known as "The Ace of Correspondents" will appear at W. T. next Wednesday evening, January 9th.

Mr. Irwin is in the foremost rank among American journalists and writers of the present day, having been present as newspaper representative at all the leading international conferences for the past several years. He is a world traveler, an author, and a poet, and brings to American audiences the best in foreign news and literature, his most popular address being on the Nazi government in Germany and other foreign countries. He is particularly interested in local governments and the frightful tangle in which they have ensnared themselves, and their unnecessary cost.

As a representative of American newspapers, Mr. Irwin will bring to his audience a personal discourse on the live international and local question of today. His is not a political lecture, but a presentation of facts as they exist today in all governments, particularly in international relations.

PANHANDLE MEMBER 1933 PRESS ASSOCIATION

Tom Waggoner over at Claude seeks to engage The Canyon News in a discussion over the sales tax, for which he professes the greatest enmity, James V. Allred and Tom Hunter discussed the sales tax quite freely during the past campaign, and possibly from their own way of thinking in a much abler manner than could be discussed by either the Claude News or The Canyon News. All of the wrath of the Claude News was brought down upon us because we happened to observe that in visiting five states this summer where the sales tax was in operation the people seemed to be pretty well satisfied in view of the fact that it was paying off the debts of the states which had hitherto faced bankruptcy. The Canyon News has learned many, many years ago that we are not blessed with all of the brains in the world, nor do we set ourselves up as being the only individual who knows anything worth while; but we have learned to observe as we go along the things which are working well, and those which are not working well. As a sales tax the gasoline tax in Texas seems to be getting the job done; as a sales tax, the cigarette tax is bringing to Texas a lot of money; more than twenty states which now have the sales tax have found that the scare of this tax is much worse than the results of the tax. Incidentally, Mr. Waggoner is strong for the Townsend old age pension, which calls for a national sales tax, and will be a whale of a tax if the $200 per month plan is adopted. Of course it is unfortunate for the people of those states with the sales tax that they have not had the benefit of Mr. Waggoner's financial training, but they seem to be pretty well pleased in their ignorance. Our guess is that Tom will have to extend his sworn circulation considerably during the coming few years if he succeeds in keeping a sales tax out of Texas.

Wouldn't it be fine if every citizen of Randall county should make up his mind to trade in Randall county this year in so far as he is able to buy here. There are many people who never give a minute's thought to the result of spending their money away from home. They buy away from home without even questioning whether or not they are saving. If they would be honest in the matter, chances are they are actually losing money by going away from home, or sending away from home. It takes a terribly big saving to drive a car any distance in order to trade; likewise, there must be a very great saving if purchases are made from mail order concerns, since the transportation must be paid. We make the prediction that if every person in Randall county were trading in Canyon, forty or fifty more students could be given employment in Canyon by business firms and their families. Yet when this money goes out of town, no one gains—excepting to build a larger town somewhere else, which becomes a greater competitor to property values in Canyon. Let's trade at home during 1935, and watch Canyon grow, and all our property increase in value. However, it is well to keep in mind those business firms which are really going after business and appreciate your business are regular advertisers, and invite your patronage through the columns of your newspaper.

Indications are that the President is determined for a showdown as regards utility rates. The RFC is loaning money for the construction of various utility plants. Of course this will mean a great economic loss where a privately owned plants are already in existence and serving the people. But if the utility rates are excessive, the companies are standing in their own way if they allow a competitive plant to be constructed, causing both to operate at a disadvantage. The American people want to be fair with all lines of industry. If municipal or state or nationally owned plants can operate at such a great saving as compared with private ownership there must be something wrong with the private set up and management. In view of the widespread demand for more and more municipal plants, and the claim of the great savings to the people through the operation of such plants, it would be well for the owners of private plants to stop, look and listen. Their fate may be the same as the railroads, who refused to recognize the impending bus and truck menace to their business until too late. If utility rates are too high, private owners should get these rates down to bedrock in order to forestall municipal plants; if present rates are not too high, there should be some manner of proving it to the people.

Without doubt, there is a general trend for improvement over the nation, as compared with conditions of one year ago. Locally, The News believes that the trend for improvement hinges entirely upon the moisture which we receive during the next four months. The Panhandle will continue to suffer so long as the drouth continues. According to the report of County Agent W. H. Upchurch, there is an accumulative deficiency of moisture in Randall county of 30 inches during the past five years. This has sapped the sub-moisture until it will be necessary to have an extra amount of rain in order to create a reserve. A long wet period in the Panhandle will mean the return of prosperity in this section. In view of the fact that ten year averages are about equal throughout the nation so long as weather reports have been kept, there is no reason to believe that the Panhandle has been forsaken by the elements which control the weather. One of these days we shall be crying because there it too much moisture.

The President will open a Congress this week which will be harder to handle than the last one. With a larger Democratic majority, the independent Democrats will feel more inclined to resist the President than was the case when it was necessary for all good Democrats to stay under the President's wing. Furthermore, the feeling has spread that the experimental program of the President has gone far enough; that a program of real constructive nature must be undertaken; and every congressman feels that he has some sort of a solution for the nation's ills. The President should be able to continue a steady grasp upon the situation, as he has in the past, but his program will not go through with the swift running smoothness as was seen in the last congress.

War Threatens as Nations Tensely Await Outcome of Saar Election

EARLY in January an election will be held in a tiny European area about three-quarters the size of Rhode Island. Doesn't sound very exciting, does it? But the results are awaited, in tense anxiety, by all Europe.

In a great degree, the rest of the world is involved, for upon the voters' decision, world peace may hinge.

Scene of the election is the Saar, small but rich mining region in a Vosges Mountain valley between Germany and France. On Sunday, Jan. 13, 1935, Saarlanders will vote whether the Saar shall be returned to Germany, from whom it was taken; whether it shall go to France, or whether it shall remain under the care of the League of Nations, its status for the last 15 years.

Residents of the Saar were promised this privilege shortly after the World War. When peace terms were being drawn up, France had demanded the Saar Basin and its coal mines in return for the French mines destroyed by the Germans.

The League of Nations compromised. In the Versailles Treaty, the Saar was placed under the 15-year supervision of a League commission; the residents of the region were to reveal their wishes by the ballot at the end of that time.

The coal mines were turned over to France, on condition that if the 1935 plebiscite resulted in the Saar reverting to Germany, Germany should be privileged to buy back the mines at a price set by a neutral body.

WAR threats arise from the fact that both France and Germany covet the Saar. Situated beside the great Lorraine iron ore deposits, the Saar has become the "Pittsburgh" of France, and keeping it would mean vast future wealth for that country.

On the other hand, Germany is determined to restore the Saar to the Fatherland. The need is vital politically and economically.

Recovery of the Saar would mean a silver lining in the cloud of depression settling about Germany; and it would restore Nazi prestige, lost in the balked "putsch" to Nazify Austria, which cost the friendship of Mussolini and Italy.

In the company of his Storm Troopers, Chancellor Adolf Hitler is pictured above as he examined a giant map of the Saar Basin, shortly after opening his recent "Return the Saar" propaganda campaign at Coblenz, Germany.

Germany's hunger for the prized little tidbit has pushed her to great lengths. Millions of dollars' worth of propaganda has been poured into the Saar in the last decade. Radio programs and papers in the Saar teem with pro-Nazi sentiment. Anti-Nazi Saarlanders have been threatened time and time again.

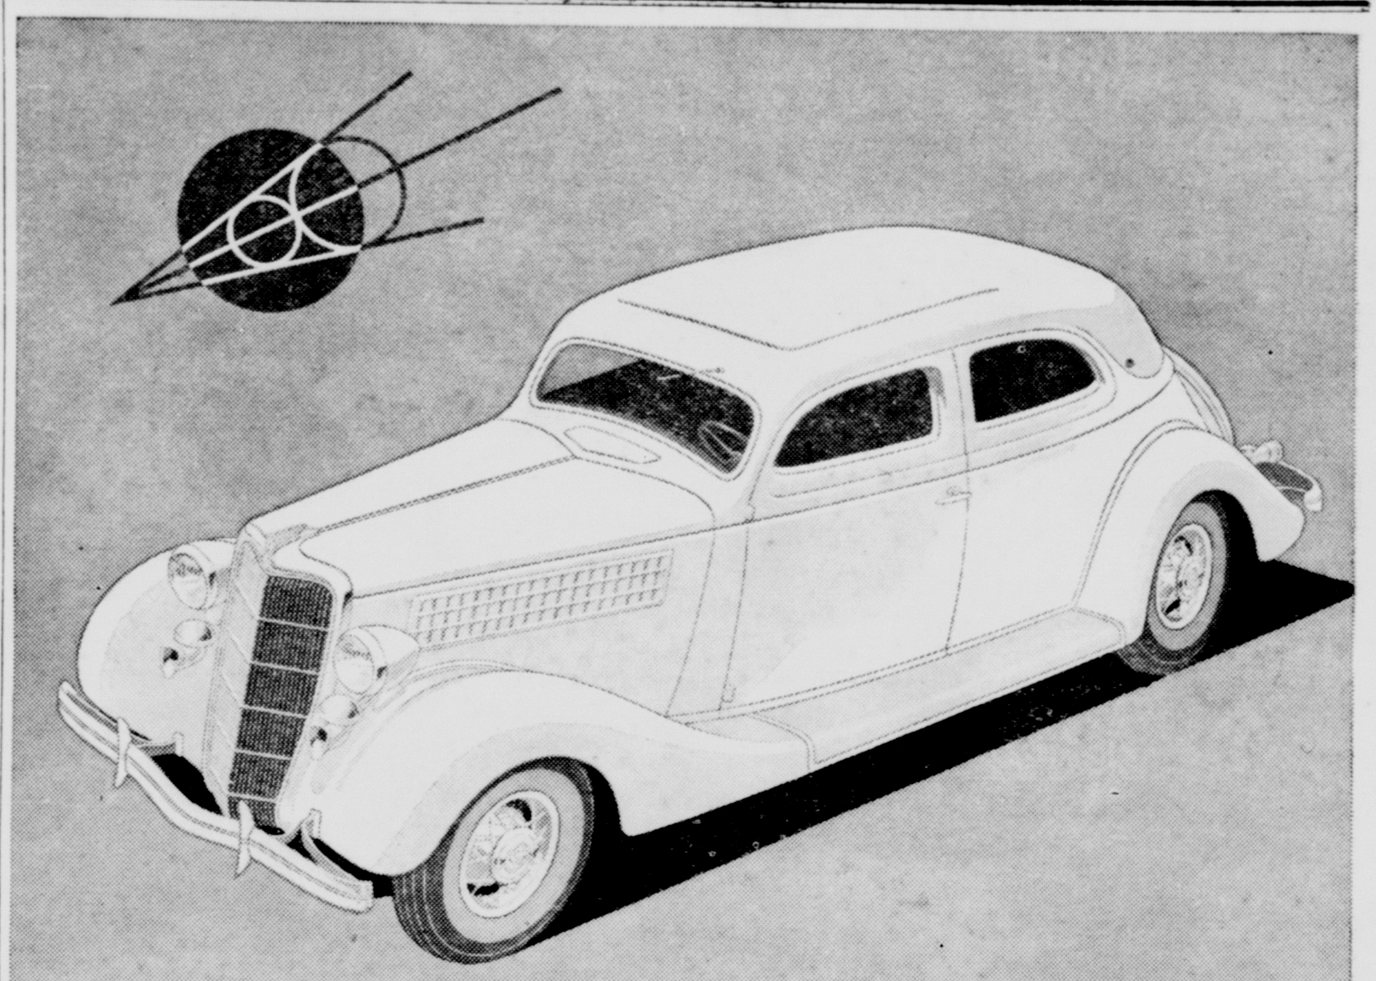
Recently, Adolf Hitler transported more than 150,000 Saar residents to Germany for a gigantic meeting, where he dinned "patriotism" into their ears. "Der Fuehrer" has even gone to the extent of herding into the Saar for the election from all over the earth hordes of former Saarlanders, since the Versailles Treaty specified that only those living in the Saar at the time of the Treaty were to vote.

Europe is jittery over war possibilities in the situation. If Germany wins, Hitler storm troops may be sent to occupy the Saar and friction with France may arise before Germany can buy back its mines.

On the other hand, the Saar might become a European "powder keg" if France should win the election. And France has a chance of winning.

Catholics, trade unionists, and Socialists who make up the majority of Saarlanders are known to fear Nazism.

Altogether, the Saar plebiscite is probably the most important election since the American one in 1860, which precipitated the Civil War.



THE NEW FORD V-8 FOR 1935

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 is the biggest and roomiest Ford car ever built. It is a strikingly handsome car, with modern lines and new, luxurious appointments.

But most important of all it is especially designed to give you smooth, easy riding over all kinds of roads—"a front-seat ride for back-seat riders."

This ease of riding is achieved by the use of three basic principles never before combined in a low-price car.

1. Correct distribution of car weight by moving engine and body forward eight and a half inches.

2. New location of seats by which the rear seat is moved forward, toward the center of the car—away from the rear axle and away from the bumps.

3. New spring suspension which permits the use of longer, more flexible springs and increases the springbase to 123 inches.

The result is Center-Poise—which not only gives you a new riding comfort but adds to the stability of the car and its ease of handling. You can take curves with greater safety.

There are many new features in the Ford V-8 for 1935 which make the car still easier to drive. New brakes give more power for stopping quickly with far less foot pressure on the pedal.

A new type of easy-pressure clutch employs centrifugal force to increase efficiency at higher speeds. New steering mechanism makes the car still easier to handle. New, wider, roomier seats.

The New Ford V-8 for 1935 retains the V-8 engine which has demonstrated its dependability and economy in the service of more than a million owners. There are refinements, but no change in basic design. You buy premium performance when you buy this Ford V-8—full 85 horsepower and capable of 80 miles an hour. All Ford V-8 cars for 1935 come equipped with Safety Glass throughout at no additional cost.

There are always stumps and deep-set roots on new ground—don't forget that.

Government motto—Either a borrower or a lender be.

AN ESTATE

Not every father is able to leave to his son a big estate made up of lands, mortgages and bonds, but any father can bequeath to his children an estate worth indefinitely more—one for which they will rise up to call his name blessed. He can leave an honorable name, a good reputation, the memory of a Godly life and a record of fair dealing. He can teach his son to have a profound respect for a fact, a deep reverence for character, a thirst for knowledge and a willingness to work. If any youth has all this he will not need any money that may be willed to him; if he does not have this, no money left him will do him much good. This is an estate any man can leave to his children.

No one can figure out why that New Yorker gave away his million-dollar legacy. What else would any one do in these days of "Share the Wealth" clubs, poor relations, inheritance taxes and kidnappers?

If a man had to take the advice that he seeks there would be fewer inquiries of such a nature.

Don't run away to get married. It deprives your friends of an opportunity to see how scared you are.

The report about the younger generation going to the dogs is several generations old.

EASIER TO BE CRITICAL THAN CORRECT

"It is easier to be critical than correct," so states the Merit poster in the hall. Did you ever stop to think how true that is? How often each day are you correct? Before you are critical, ask yourself this question: "Could I do it any better?" Most of the time the true answer will be NO!

Think before criticising, and be sure you could do better than the one you are criticising. Always be correct; then criticise, but in a kind way.

ETIQUETTE

Q. How should one tell his host or hostess that he enjoyed a weekend visit in his home?

A. He should tell them before he leaves, and write a bread and butter letter within two days after returning home.

Q. When should acknowledgement of gifts be made?

A. The time limit for notes of thanks for Christmas gifts is Twelfth Night, when the holly and greens are burned, and Christmas is officially over.

Q. What will you do if you are in earshot of conversation between your teacher and some one else?

A. Move away quietly, or pick up a book or magazine and appear to be occupied.

Ambition Gone But Unforgotten

Such ambitionless boys and girls as are in Canyon High School! Their ideals go no higher than eating and sleeping. Why?

One industrious reporter searching feature material, dashed energetically from one person to the next. Eagerly the demand for a resolution was made. "What kind of a resolution? Any kind of a resolution—a crazy resolution—an impossible resolution—even a serious resolution, any kind of a resolution. Only make one."

And the next moment, "What, no resolutions?"

The poor reporter trudged dejectedly away.

Oh, for ambitious students!

Canyon Debaters Go To Hereford For Two Debates

The Canyon debaters went to Hereford, Thursday, Dec. 20, for two practice debates.

One girls' team and one boys team made the trip. Mary Ella Lowe and Mable Schmitz were on the girls' team, while Robert Orton and Hal Gamble were on the boys' team.

The debates were only for practice and no decision was given.

The subject for debate this year has already proven to be a very interesting one, and there is bound to be some very good debates. Mr. Pope wants other students to come out for the teams as there is not very many out at the present.

Students Resolve And Don't Resolve

"I hereby resolve to show more consideration for my text books, (less use, less wear)," resolves Jewel Chambers, the first Canyon High School resolutioner.

"My resolution," sighed Mr. John B. Pope, close on the heels of Wandell Johnson and Jack Neil Jennings, skippers of the sixth period study-hall, "is to try to understand why students do as they do, and to do my best to be easier on the students, hoping they will be kind enough to give me the same."

Jack Oldham resolves never to threaten to throw his typewriter out the window nor curse under or over his breath again.

But seriously, Rubye Foster and Lorene Bessire propose never, never to criticise anything or anybody before they know that they could do the thing correctly.

All other Canyon High School students firmly resolve to make at least one New Year's Resolution, but they can't or won't tell what it is right now.

HICKS ENTERTAINS WITH XMAS PARTY AT HOME

Christmas was celebrated by members of the Donnell Girls' Auxiliary and their guests at the home of Winnie Dee Hicks last Thursday, Dec. 20.

The Christmas tree was decorated in silver tinsel and small lighted electric lights. Chocolate dolls were hung on the tree, and pop corn balls, wrapped as snow balls, surrounded the base of the tree. Presents were hanging on the tree and stacked around its base.

The following guests were served a chocolate doll, and pelted with a "snow ball:" Tennie Dora Brooks, Frances Gill, Arneta Kirkpatrick, Ruth Glover, Thelma Bryant, Helen Bowman, Rubye Foster, Jewel Chambers, Margaret Nicholas, Maebon Howard, Lorna Cone, Loretta Cole, Geraldine Heath, Mavis Hardin, Ruby Guthrie, and the hostess, Winnie Dee Hicks.

GRADE SCHOOL STUDES HAVE CHRISTMAS TREES

The class rooms of the grade school had Christmas trees in their home rooms Friday, Dec. 21.

The students drew names and exchanged gifts. The teachers gave each pupil a bag of candy and nuts.

School was dismissed at 3:45 for the Christmas holidays.

Vernell Hancock, former student of Canyon High School, is visiting friends in Canyon this week.

Margaret Nicholas, Chloie Hail, and Rowena Lockwood were in Amarillo during the holidays.

Tennie Dora Brooks, Jewel Chambers, Yvonne Thomas spent part of the holidays in Hereford.

M. E. Bagwell went to her home in Claude for the Christmas vacation.

PTA CHRISTMAS PROGRAM IS GIVEN DEC. 17

TWO PLAYS, READING OF CHRISTMAS STORIES, AND SLIDES FORM THE PARENT-TEACHERS PROGRAM

A Christmas program was given Thursday night, Dec. 20, for the members of the Parent-Teachers Association.

The following program was given:

Sixth Grade play, "The Birth of Christ," sponsored by Ruth Greenfield.

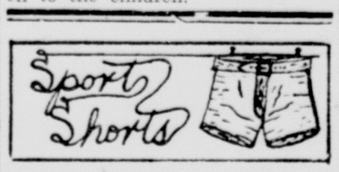
Sixth Grade Safety Play, sponsored by Miss Irene Angel.

Two Christmas stories, read by Miss Ruth Lowes, primary teacher at W. T. Demonstration School.

These were followed by a short business meeting of the Parent-Teachers. Since Mrs. Bellah, president of the association, was absent, Mrs. Ray Campbell acted as presiding officer.

Rev. W. H. Bessire exhibited approximately fifty Nativity slides which were explained by Rev. C. L. Dickey.

At the close of the program sacks of candy and nuts were given to the children.



The Eagles are progressing and developing remarkably well. They are going to tangle with Groom and Tulia this week end for the two first scheduled games. Here's to you Eagles, fight 'em hard.

Not only are the boys' team doing well, but also the fair sexs' basketball squad has shown improvement and is expected to play a practice game this week. The girls are working hard, and due credit should also go to their efficient coach, Miss Annis Smith.

Ping Pong is rapidly coming into prominence. It is practiced by both young and old throughout the school, especially at the lunch hour, and according to Willard Childress, a very enthusiastic contender, "All you boys have got to lay off these 'Bull Durham Sandwiches,' get in the peak of physical condition, and be more careful of the things you eat. I know it will be hard, but in order to become a champion, you must train to the best of your ability."

And regardless of the humor in his statement, there is one very interesting and valuable point brought out, and that is keeping in training, which is a very important factor in any sport in which one wishes to participate.

Anna Kathryn Overton and Athalee Overton spent Christmas in McLean.

Mary Ella Flesher of Amarillo spent last week end with Billie Bee Flesher.

New Year's Greeting:

The New Year presents itself as a challenge to the Canyon High School students. During the year 1935 you shall have an opportunity to write upon a new slate, the story of your successes and of your failures.

It is my sincere wish that the story shall be a happy one.

We shall all have our problems and our tasks that will need to be done. We shall also have our moments of success and happiness.

Let us all resolve to make 1935 a year of achievement for Canyon High and for each member of its student body.

Eagles Basketeers Meet Groom and Tulia This Week

The Eagle basketball squad has shown much improvement in their work since their first practice games of the season when they played the Amarillo Yannigans and Central High.

Coach Jones and his Eagles will journey to Groom Friday, Jan. 4, to pit his team against Coach Kenneth Kendrick's green clad lads. The following day the squad will take on Coach Hatcher Brown's strong Tulia Hornets in the Tulia gymnasium.

This will put the Eagles squad to a strong test as both opponents are said to be of the best competition.

C. H. S. Again On Re-accredited List

I. B. Carruth received a letter from the State Department of Education at Austin stating that the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, in its annual meeting at Atlanta, Georgia, voted without reservation to retain Canyon Public Schools on the accredited list for the following year.

Eagles Scrimmage Ex-Eagles Thurs.

The Eagles played the second cage game of the season, winning over the Ex-Eagles, now attending W. T. S. T. C., Thursday, Dec. 20.

The Eagles showed their ability as basketeers when they scored more points than the Exes. All of the players showed up well especially Jack Taylor, O. M. Solomon, and Curtis Elliston, all running a close race for high point honors.

The Eagles' second team also showed great improvement over the first game. They were winners over the Exes by a small margin. The stars for the second team were "Fat" Childers and Thomas Harris.

The Ex-Eagles shot from all angles, but were not consistent in hitting the basket. Most of the points for the Exes were made by long shots from the side and center of the court.

KEEP YOUR RESOLUTIONS

Have you made your New Year's resolutions?

Many make them but break them. What good is it to make them if you do not carry them out? One often becomes discouraged because he fails to keep a resolution very long. You could go on and carry it out, trying not to break it any more, and perhaps, everything will turn out as you had wished.

New Year's resolutions are something that nearly every person makes. If you make resolutions, make them worth the time and effort. Do try to carry them out, and this will be a bigger and better world.

Hugh Fox, freshman, enrolled in Canyon High School Monday.

Joe Winstead spent the Christmas holidays in Las Vegas, N. M.

Ruth McCrerey spent Christmas with her aunt at Wayside.

The October 11, 18, and 25 issues of the school page was entered. Whitewright placed second, while the Wheeler "Corral" carried off third honors.

Librarians Have Social Meeting

Librarians in a social meeting Thursday afternoon, were faced by Marley's ghost of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" in the person of Sherman Higdon, who told them all their misdeeds.

The faults or misdeeds were all violations of the rules of the library such as putting the wrong cards in books, putting books on the wrong shelves, and checking out books to students with fines.

Miss Mattie Jordan told a Christmas story, "The Bluebird," by Maeterlinck.

Hot spiced tea and cookies were served by Miss Jordan to Neva Lois Miller, Loretta Cole, Sarah Bonnie Bourn, Billie Bee Flesher, Edith Steen, Mary Collins, Marielle Oldham, Sherman Higdon, and Kate Eileen Donnell.

Extracts From The Exchange

To all those that do not appreciate the funny jokes in this column, this little poem in the "Cat's Meow," will explain everything. It says:

If it's funny enough it's been told,
If it hasn't it's too clean
If it's dirty enough to interest a Fish,
The editor gets kicked out of school.

The other day a senior was talking to a junior, and the junior said:

"I found part of a poem the other day, and it said, 'The freshman stood on the burning deck,' and I want to find the rest of it and see what happened to the poor little dear."

The senior nonchalantly replied: "Don't worry, dear, he would more than likely be too green to burn."

This sounds like a junior, and its from the Austin Pioneer, in El Paso.

McGowan: I wish Savonarola had been a Spaniard.

Nolan: Why?

McGowan: Well, you see he was on my examination paper.

A student persisted in talking out loud, so the teacher said:

"Mamie Lee has the floor." And the wise guy said:

"Well, what is she gonna do with it?"

And last, but not least, we have a very silly little story. It was written by a student of dear old Alma Mamma.

Once upon a time, Little Bo Peep lost her sheep, and she found out that Mary had a little lamb. So Little Bo Peep accused Mary of stealing her sheep, and she started to have Mary prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Mary wailed and weeped and wailed and Little Red Riding Hood just laughed and laughed and laughed 'cause when the Big Bad Wolf opened his mouth to eat her up she saw Little Bo Peep's sheep, way down deep, all piled in a heap in the Big Bad Wolf's guzzelum.

Miss Goodrich Reported Improved

Miss Lois Goodrich, teacher of English and Journalism in Canyon High School, is recovering from a major operation which was performed in West Texas Hospital at Lubbock, on Christmas day.

Miss Goodrich is reported to be improving, and will be removed to Tahoka the last of this week where she will remain for several weeks before returning home.

MAYFIELD ENTERTAINS WITH WATCH PARTY

Carolyn Mayfield, Mary Collins Beulah Brasuel, and Billy Louise Greenfield were hostesses to 30 students Monday night at the home of Mrs. J. A. Edwards with a watch party.

Table games and dancing were the amusements. Refreshments were served after 1:00 o'clock.

Lorna Cone visited relatives in Floydada during the Christmas holidays.

Triplets and twins were born in an Indiana town the same day. That's a growing place.

Model husband: A man who is as nice to his wife when alone with her as he is in company.

Lockhart Speaks Friday Morning To Press Club

Vincent Lockhart, graduate of '32, and now a student in the University of Missouri School of Journalism, spoke to the journalism class at their class period, Friday, Dec. 18.

"The University of Missouri is the oldest state university west of the Mississippi; it has 800 acres of land and its students number 3500."

With these facts in mind, Mr. Lockhart dismissed with the University in general, and more specifically discussed the School of Journalism.

"The Journalism School itself is the meeting place of journalists from all over the world."

It was founded forty years ago by Walter Williams who is now President of the University. Every member of the faculty has had actual newspaper experience. Ed Gerald, a former member of the Canyon High School student body, teaches rural newspaper.

Publish Three Dailies

The journalism school publishes three dailies and one weekly. Two semesters are spent in writing and two in copy reading.

The library contains 4,000 volumes devoted to journalism, and 125 periodicals.

"A newspaper only prints about one third of what it gets," Mr. Lockhart told the class.

Scholastic Requirements

He concluded with a brief summary of the subjects necessary to have in order to enter the journalism school.

He advised the students to make up their minds as to what field to follow after they finish high school. As a successful keynote he added: "A successful journalist must be a successful mixer."

GUESS WHO

He's dark, dashing, dangerous,
But not a ladies man,
A football captain famed to us,
And quite a wrestling fan.

Note: Each week a descriptive doggerel will be included in the paper concerning some leading student. The answer will be run the following week.

Thriving Quintuplets Bring Very Merry Christmas to the Dionnes

Copyright, 1934, all rights reserved.

Above, the Dionne quintuplets' first Christmas, with tree, dolls, 'n' everything. From left to right, Baby Annette gazes curiously at Nurse de Kiriline; Cecile rests comfortably in her mother's arms; Marie stares in awe at Santa Claus (p-s-s-t-! It's only Dr. Dafoe); Emelie is debating whether to reach for the flower on her dad's lapel; and Nurse Yvonne Leroux finds that her tiny namesake-charge isn't interested in the proceedings.

TO a little group clustering around five babies in a northern Ontario homestead, this Christmas Day was truly a merry one. For each of the group, the holy day had a special significance.

Their first Christmas just about climaxed the many wonders the cherubic Dionne quintuplets have encountered since their debut in this amazing world seven months ago. Tinseled tree, dolls and other gifts, and the gayety of the occasion were just a few more of the many problems the feminine mites, with their bright, curious eyes, have tried to fathom.

In the matter of gifts, however, the Yuletide was for them something of an anticlimax. In the last few months they have received five glorious white cribs, a $5000 hospital-home, besides scores of presents that came by mail from well-wishers the world over.

To Mr. and Mrs. Ovila Dionne, hardly accustomed yet to the miracle in which they had been instruments, this Christmas Day spelled deep contentment. The mother was healthy, though death had hovered close during her night of travail last May.

From wizened mites in whom life flickered but faintly, the babies had bloomed to normalcy. Their wants were being filled in every way. And Papa Dionne was fairly bursting with pride, as befits a father whose offspring are the center of world attention.

The significance of Christmas Day may have added a measure to the Dionnes' cup of happiness. The day which commemorated the birth of a Babe centuries ago could hardly prove anything but a good omen for the celebrated brood of these simple, devout northwoods folk.

AND it was indeed a joyful Christmas for Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe. With common sense and homely skill, this modest country doctor had accomplished the seemingly impossible. In authentic medical history, no other set of quintuplets had ever lived longer than a few hours.

Thanks mainly to Dr. Dafoe, the Dionne tots now are normal in every way, and have at least the life expectations of the average infant. The "at least" is a concession to the cold, healthy north woods climate.

It was the fulfilling of this task he had set himself—not the paeans of praise from an admiring world, nor salvos of applause from fellow physicians—that made this a merry Christmas, too, for Dr. Dafoe.

New Roosevelt Romance?

If, as rumored, Anna Roosevelt Dall, above, marries John Boettiger, below, former Chicago newspaperman, it will be the second time since President Roosevelt was inaugurated that a member of his family has been divorced and married. Last summer Mrs. Dall divorced Curtis Dall. Elliott Roosevelt, her brother, married Ruth Googins after his divorce from Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt.

The only foreign nation to pay its debt to the United States is Finland. And Americans think there ought to be an "e" in its name.

which is directly farmed by one person, either by his own labor alone or with the assistance of members of his household, or hired employees. The land operated by a partnership is likewise considered a farm. A farm may consist of a single tract of land, or of a number of separate tracts, and these several tracts may be held under different tenures, as when one tract is owned by the farmer and another tract is rented by him. When a landowner has one or more tenants, renters, croppers, or managers, the land operated by each is considered a farm. Thus on a plantation the land operated by each cropper is reported as a separate farm, and the land operated by the owner or manager by means of wage hands is likewise reported as a separate farm. No report is required of a farm of less than 3 acres, unless its products in 1934 were valued at $250 or more.

Director Austin wishes to emphasize the fact that every supervisor and enumerator, as well as all census employees, are sworn to secrecy regarding the reports. The law provides that the individual return made by each farmer is absolutely a confidential Government report. All employees are required to read the law and penalties imposed for disclosure of this information. The Director desires particularly to impress every farmer with the fact that his report will not be used as a basis for taxation nor communicated to any tax official.

Tree Shelter

braska are ready for tree planting now."

The project, according to Mr. Dillingham, probably will require several years for completion.

Add Trees Each Year

"The government is not going to have a large group of trees planted and then forget about them," he said.

"Only a small number of trees will be planted at a time, more being added each year. The planting alone probably will take 15 years."

In many instances the plots where trees are planted will be fenced off and the care of the trees will be under the direction of learned government foresters.

"Some are wondering just what kind of trees will be planted," he continued.

Drouth Settles Question

"The whole question is largely settled by the current drouth. Those species which have survived it more frequently than others are the present 'winners' and will be the survivors of the next big drouth, 20, 30 or 40 years hence.

"These species will be planted not because they are fast growing, not because they are the easiest to handle in the nursery or to get started in the shelterbelts, but because we know just what to expect of them in the long pull. They are, for the most part, the native trees of the western region, and have become adjusted to the climate and the soils through many generations.

Dense Plantation

In explaining the project, Mr. Dillingham said that the purpose was to establish a large number of shelterbelts in a zone 100 miles wide along the eastern margin of the great plains region. A shelterbelt, as considered in connection with this project, is a dense plantation of trees about 100 to 130 feet wide and of undetermined length, so located as to provide protection from the wind.

"In general," Mr. Dillingham said, "the shelterbelts will be planted at intervals of about one mile and will consist of about 10 rows of trees. There will be frequent interruptions—and every conceivable variation in form and direction and arrangement. All of these variations will be determined in accordance with topography, soil, the direction of the prevailing winds, and the needs of the local conditions that are encountered to which the basic plan must conform if the project is to accomplish its purpose.

Public Improvement

"The entire project," Mr. Dillingham continued, "is based upon the provision that the government shall own, or control by lease, the land on which the trees are planted, the lessor in the latter case having no vested interest in the trees as long as the lease is in effect.

"This provision is well justified by the fact that under private control trees are seldom given the protection necessary to insure long life even though they may be given much care and cultivation while young. The other reason is that the entire undertaking should be a public improvement, and not a subsidy to a certain portion of the residents."

Not Relief Project

Although the project was launched last July, it is not a relief project, Mr. Dillingham pointed out.

The only relief from stressed conditions will be provided by the employment of residents of the area, he said.

"The shelterbelts will provide windbreaks, snow traps, and shade in a region where these are largely lacking," he continued. "The Forest Service inaugurated this project in the belief that trees would mitigate the effects of future drouths, as by preventing the quick drying and subsequent blowing of soils, similarliy protecting growing crops from excessive drying, slightly modifying extremes of temperature in the same way that green fields cool the air and through other local effects modify their immediate environment and the living conditions of man, beast, bird and vegetation."

Must Prepare Land

For protective purposes, Mr. Dillingham pointed out, the three essentials of a shelterbelt are height, length and density.

"The greatest height is to be obtained by putting the tallest-growing trees in the center of the belt, and to some extent forcing them to shoot upwards. These are to be flanked by shorter trees and at the extreme edges by shrubby growth, so that the outside conformation of a good belt is somewhat the shape of a big roof."

Another reason for the slow completion of the belt as given by Mr. Dillingham is that it will in some places take years to prepare the land.

Stir Soil Deeply

Before planting, the ground to be used must be plowed and fallowed for at least one summer to accumulate moisture," he said. "Provision must also be made for obtaining as deep penetration of moisture as possible, if deep-rooted trees are to be encouraged.

"After planting is done, weed growth must be kept down by cultivation for several years or until the trees sufficiently shade the ground to suppress such growth. Thereafter, the mulch formed, if it can be kept from blowing away, will serve the same purpose of moisture conservation."

200 Million Trees Yearly

A big job of the project will be to grow the trees. About 200 million trees will be planted yearly in this 1,000-mile "protective zone."

"Government nurseries will be installed as needed, in startegic positions, where good soil and water can be found," Mr. Dillingham said. "It is expected also that it will be possible to make satisfactory contracts for growing trees with existing commercial nurseries, or to lease their facilities for the same purpose.

"The plains shelterbelt project is only a beginning for more extensive tree-planting in the Plains region. It will undoubtedly stimulate further planting by the owners of land by states, and with the accumulated knowledge and experience it will prove more and more successful under conditions which may now seem hazardous."

Faculty Members on Professional Trips During Holidays

Four members of the College faculty spent the Christmas vacation away from Canyon doing strictly professional work. They were L. F. Sheffy, Miss Mary Morgan Brown, Miss Darthula Walker, and Miss Mary E. Hudspeth.

Mr. Sheffy attended the annual meeting of the American Historical Association at Washington, D. C. This was the first meeting of this organization which Mr. Sheffy had been able to attend. Prominent historians of colleges of the entire United States were present at the meeting, and William E. Dodd, president of the Association returned from Berlin where he is United State Ambassador just to be present at the Washington meeting.

Miss Darthula Walker has been employed by Rand and McNally to write the Texas supplement of the State adopted geography test for the seventh grade. She spent her entire vacation visiting Texas points in connection with this work which must be finished by April. El Paso, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, McAllen, Brownsville, Houston, Boumont, Lufkin, Kilgore, Tyler, Athens, and Dallas were among the places she visited.

Miss Hudspeth attended the eighteen anniversary meeting of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish at Austin, Dec. 27-28. Many of the outstanding teachers of Spanish from colleges and universities of the United States were present.

Miss Mary Morgan Brown spent most of her vacation in New Orleans where she attended a national meeting of the Speech Arts Association.
